ASDC MISSION

Education

Providing ongoing professional education and guidance regarding formal and informal pathways for education.

Advocacy

To advocate on behalf of our members, industry representatives and consumers to ensure standards of safety and ethical practice.

Support

To increase recognition and awareness of the profession within government, health, allied health and aesthetic forums.

Connection

The ASDC are a collaborative community connecting clinicians, educators, researchers and our industry partners.

WHO WE ARE

The Australian Society of Dermal Clinicians (ASDC) are a not-for-profit professional association for Dermal Clinicians, Dermal Therapists and industry associates. The ASDC is a collaborative professional community of practitioners, educators, researchers and industry representatives who specialise or have a special interest in skin health, integrity and the clinical management of skin conditions, disorders and disease.

The ASDC encourages research and evidence based, best practice to achieve optimal outcomes for patients. We also advocate on behalf of our members, industry representatives, and consumers in maintaining standards of safety and ethical practice.

INDUSTRY PARTNERSHIPS

The ASDC advocates for the highest standards within clinical practice including the ethical management of patients through delivery of high quality Dermal Therapy services.

ASDC members are encouraged to work with companies that provide products and equipment that support our ethical and evidence based approach. This includes high quality production, excellence in after sales support, commitment to research and development and adhering to best practice regulatory processes.

ASDC Industry Partnerships , alongside individual and clinic/business membership provides a mechanism for collaboration and sharing of knowledge and expertise within the industry. This is through continued education opportunities to promote clinical currency as well as a mutual commitment to improvement of the profession and industry through promoting safety and efficacy in patient care.

Clinics and industry partner medical/aesthetic device and product companies that are on the ASDC industry partner register are recognised for their commitment to these values. The financial contribution of your membership provides vital funding for the development and execution of strategic projects toward our goal of becoming a recognised self regulating allied health profession with the National Alliance of Self Regulating Allied Health Professions by 2024.
